

Callistephus Fujimi

Fujimi is fusarium resistant and its small leaves and reduced basal branching make it ideal for high density planting. This series was bred to grow up-right before plants begin to branch producing sprays of brightly colored flowers.

It's easy to be overwhelmed by the intensity and volume of color contained on a single spray that the form of each flower is easily overlooked. Each flower is packed with long petals giving it a lush, three-dimensional shape.

Contact your favorite broker to order. For more information visit www.takii.com

TAKII SEED

Creating Tomorrow Today